has successfully completed the online, non-credit Specialization

UI / UX Design

In this Specialization, learners summarized and demonstrated all stages of the UI/UX development process, and reviewed current best practices in UX design to create effective and compelling screen-based experiences for websites or apps. Learners completed a series of short exercises, both visual and non-visual, to apply acquired knowledge, from organizing and structuring screen-based content, defining goals and strategy, to creating wireframes and visual mockups. Finally, learners produced a mid-level digital prototype with simulated functionality, as well as a comprehensive plan for a complex website.

About this Specialization

SELECTED RECENT REVIEWS

The UI/UX Design Specialization brings a design-driven approach to user interface and user experience design, and offers practical, job-based instruction centered around a three-part, iterative, research-driven process, with a focus on marketing or programming experience. In this sequence of four courses, you will learn the end-to-end process of UI/UX design, from user research to defining a project strategy, scope, and information architecture, to developing wireframes and user flows, to implementing user-centered and conversion UI design and applying them to create effective and compelling user-centered experiences for websites or apps.

User interface and user experience design is a high-growth field, and the skills and knowledge you'll learn in this Specialization are applicable to a wide range of careers, from marketing to user design to human-computer interaction.

Learners enrolled in the UI/UX Design Specialization are eligible for an extended 12-month offer of 60% product price off on our tool for Digital Strategy. See a series of tools in Courses of the Specialization, User Design Strategy, and Information Architecture.

Applied Learning Project

In this Specialization you will participate in several assignments—both visual and non-visual—that apply acquired knowledge from organizing and analyzing user research content, defining goals and strategy, to creating wireframes and visual mockups. By the end of this Specialization, you will have produced a portfolio of practical user interface functionality, as well as an interactive plan for a complete website.
